Internet Services - Domain Names, Websites & Email

Domain Names

A Domain name is your registered internet identity. Like a business name.

There are many variations of domain name types, including .com for commercial, .au for Australian etc
A domain name with just a .com type extension is usually a Global or US based address
Australian .com.au names are well regulated, requiring a direct relationship to your business or company name and consequently a little more expensive than less regulated .com names

Hosting the Domain Name

A Domain name is just a name and for it to be useable it must be Hosted or located somewhere on the net.
This service is usually provided by an Internet Hosting Company or through an agent like ourselves.

Email Hosting

Own your email identities `yourname@yourcompany.com.au`

A flexible and affordable solution that will enhance your business image and improve your email functionality.

This involves having a registered Domain Name and an Email Hosting arrangement.

If you currently have an address such as `yourcompany@telstra.com` there are two issues of identity.
Your internet providers name is part of your email identity, which lacks professionalism Also if you want or need to change internet provider, then you will also have to change your email address and printed stationery etc.

Email Hosting gives you a whole range of personal email addresses, `anyone@yourcompany.com.au`
These can be individual mailboxes, or can be set to redirect to another individual or common mailbox.
These settings are user definable and can be changed and updated anytime.

Website Hosting (includes email hosting)

Gives all the benefits of email hosting, plus the ability to have a website presence on the internet.

In an ever changing marketplace, with a whole new generation of internet aware consumers, a presence on the internet is a valuable promotional angle for any business.

Many people will now Google or internet search before they go looking for a phonebook.

A website does not have to be a major project or expense it can be a single page informational website simply detailing - who you are, what you do and how to find you.
